MINISTRY & LIFE PERSPECTIVES

From Safari.....

Ted Wolgamot, a writer on spirituality, psychology and addiction, wondered about the bits of palms he saw behind his grandmother's religious art and other wall hangings, an occurrence in other homes as well. Reflecting on this practice, he wrote, "...these simple palms remind us of The Greatest Story Ever Told — a story so boundless that we Christians repeat it every year and revere it as the most significant spiritual event that ever took place. But maybe it's also because the palms go even further than that. These palms also tell our story, the story of our own faith life.. . . The palms we now hold, today, (Palm Sunday) in our hands are new green leaves, reminding us that we are a part of this great story; that it isn't just something that took place 2,000 years ago; that this drama is ongoing; and that we are each involved in our own way in being a part of the conspiracy and the betrayal that happened that night.

These palms can remind us, for example, that we have played the role of Peter in our own lives: lying and denying. They can remind us that we have played the role of John: abandoning. They can remind us that we have played the role of all the rest: arguing about who among us is the greatest. They can even remind us that we have played the role of Judas: betraying.

But here's the good news about these palms: They can also remind us of the miracle of reconciliation that can be ours. They can do that by reminding us of that great meal we celebrate together to this day, the meal at which Jesus told us, "I am among you as one who serves." They can do that by reminding us of Jesus' words of indescribable mercy spoken to the thieves crucified on either side of him: "Today you will be with me in Paradise."

These palms that five weeks ago reminded us that we are dust, and to dust we will return, now remind us that we are also graced by love, an abundant love that goes before us and beckons us to follow." (March 2016, Celebration, p.40, The National Catholic Reporter Publishing Company, Kansas City, MO.)

So once again we enter into the holiest of our Christian days. The Three Days, this Easter Triduum (Latin for "three days"), is the center, the core of the entire year for Christians. These days mark the mystery around which our entire lives are played out. In these days we will once again, with renewed focus, remember the passion, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ and we are also challenged toward a personal share in the passion of Jesus Christ.

I invite you to enter these days as fully as you can. Try to make this time as free from social engagements and entertainment as possible. Plan simple meals. Consider extending the fast and abstinence of Good Friday through Holy Saturday, so that we can come to the Easter Vigil hungry and full of excitement, parched and longing to feel the sacred water of the font on our skin. (Consider bring a candle from home to be lit from the Easter Candle. Use this candle on your table at meal time or in prayer corner. Also bring along a container to take home the newly blessed water)

May these Three Days enkindle your faith and find you rejoicing in the great love of God.

STEWARDSHIP

Hospitality requires our focus to be on others.

Dorothy Day is known for her campaign for social justice of the poor, hungry and homeless. She wrote, "Compassion - it is a word meaning "to suffer with". If we carry a little of the burden, it will be lightened. If we share in the suffering of the world, then some will not have to endure so heavy an affliction. It evens out."

Take the time to consider your own opportunity to carry a little of the burden for someone this week?

Dorothy Day, The Reckless Way of Love, Walden NY, Plough Publishing House, 2017

Young Adult Bible Study

Our next gathering will be on Holy Thursday (this Thursday). Contact Jason Prigge if you have any questions.

PONTIFICAL GOOD FRIDAY COLLECTION

Pope Francis has asked our parish to support the Pontifical Good Friday Collection, which helps Christians in the Holy Land. Your support helps the church minister in parishes, provide Catholic schools and offer religious education. The Pontifical Good Friday Collection also helps to preserve the sacred shrines.

The pandemic hit particularly hard the Christians in the Holy Land. Most of them depend on pilgrimages to work. In these times of crisis, the Pontifical Good Friday Collection is also necessary to meet the basic needs of the People of God still living in this land where the Church was born.

When you contribute to the Pontifical Good Friday Collection, you become an instrument of peace and join with Catholics around the world in solidarity with the Church in the Holy Land.

PLEASE BE GENEROUS

GOSPEL MEDITATION

Christ could have spoken anything from the cross, so why did he choose to recite Psalm 22? And why is it so important that we recite that same Psalm at today's Mass?

"My God, my God, why have You abandoned me?"

We've never known the Jesus of the Gospels to doubt the will of God. We've never known him to be a defeatist or to give into feelings of despair. He's the hero who walks on water, the Savior who is welcomed to Jerusalem with a pathway of palms. And he knows how this story ends; he knows full well that his Father has absolutely not abandoned him.

So why does he say this? Jesus doesn't make offhanded comments, especially in his last hour. Today, when we repeat the words that he calls out in his darkest moment, we must remember that he wants us, very particularly, to consider them.

With his crucifixion, Jesus reminds us of his humanity. He is a man of flesh that can be torn and blood that can be shed. Somehow, in tandem with his divinity, he still possesses a heart that knows fear and pain and longing. And with this seemingly hopeless cry, he reminds us of that.

Let us never doubt that Jesus can relate to us in our brokenness. This is the week, friends. This is the week that reminds us that our God is a God who knows every pang, every trembling, and every uncertainty of human life. Our God knows what abandonment feels like. He knows what rejection feels like. He knows what it is to keep going when the strength and the will has disappeared.
